CITY AND SUBURBAN.

THE CENSUS-TAKERS CLAIMS.

According to the requirements of law, in June last the City School Board elected the following-named gentlemen deputy clerks, for the purpose of taking the school census: R. W. Flournoy, S. T. Pendleton, George R. Pace, H. G. Carlton, and J. H. Peay, Jr.

These gentlemen completed their work, heavy as it was, within the time prescribed by law, and sent in their bill for services rendered to the School Committee.

School Committee.

It was found that the census-takers, acting under Attorney-General Blair's construction of the law, had listed children under five years of age, and the committee referred the matter of the claim against the city to City-Attorney Charles V. Meredith for his

RICHMOND, VA., September 2, 1885. To the Committee on Schools:

Gentlemen,—I herewith return the requisition made by the City School Board for *$866.40 to meet the expense incurred in taking the city census of school population." At the time that paper was submitted to me I was informed that the amount asked for included the expense incurred in taking the census of children under the age of five years at the rate of $3 per hun-

The question submitted to me was whether there is any legal obligation upon the city to pay the expense incurred as to children under the age of five years.

The 75th section of the school laws provides as follows: "It shall be the luty of the clerk of the District School Board, during the mouth of June or July, 1875, and every five years thereafter, to take a census of all persons residing within the school district between the ages of five and twenty-one years, and to gather statis-tics relating to the interests of education in the district, according to forms furnished from the office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction. The lists thus prepared shall be submitted, ac. For this service the clerk shall receive out of the district school funds a compensation therefor at the rate of $3 per hundred for the children listed

It will be seen that the law exressly prescribes what the census comprise-viz., children "beween the ages of five and twenty-one." Having specified the limits, the law evidently does not contemplate that a census will be taken of children under the age of five. Not contemplating didates. uch a census, it could never have intended to provide for its cost.

C. V. MEREDITH,

City Attorney. The amount due the census-takers for children under five years of age was $216.06, and the committee agreed to report this to the Council for action, together with a statement that the work had been faithfully done by the gentlemen presenting the claim. The balance of the claim, amounting to $650, was ordered to be paid. The Circus Has Gone.

Yesterday morning the city was agog with Cole's circus. As soon as it was light the people from the country came couring into the city in carts, carriages, and wagons. Grandmothers and grandfathers came to bring the children to see the murky-colored elephant, the milk-white horses, the female equestriennes, and the Arabs, to say nothing of the horned horse, the clowns, the caliope, and the brass bands of music. Broad and Main streets were lined at an early hour with people from various parts of the city and country, who came out to see the parade, the line of which was down Broad to Thirteenth, and then up Main. It was curious to note what a dense crowd was on the streets. The side-walks were filled to overflowing, and even the streets were so densely packed as at times to make it impossible to pass across them. However, the parade passed and nothing of an unusual character occurred. The cages were open, and the public treated to a full view of the beasts. The animals of every description looked well, the horses being particularly well kept and sleek-looking.

The first performance was given at 2 o'clock, and was witnessed by thousands of people, who came away well satisfied with all that they saw. Cole has ample accommodations for his pa-trons, but even these were taxed heavily yesterday. The entertainment was void of objection and was very much enjoyed, nearly everything advertised on the bills being faithfully presented. At night another large audience witnessed the show, which goes hence to Burkeville, in Notteway county.
